simply not another book on israel and palestine arab jewish activism in israel provides a refreshingly new empirical evidence and theoretical analysis on the connexion between interethnic alliances civil society and the potentials for actualising shared sociabilities in a conflict ridden society an indispensable read to scholars wishing to gain original insights into transversal connections which transcend ethnicity reconstructing the civic examines the civic activism of the homeland palestinian minority in israel employing a multi methodological and empirically rich approach amal jamal blends historical description with interviews of palestinian elites drawn from a diverse range of civil society groups such as ngos youth movements and religious organizations he also critiques the failure of western liberal scholarship to account for the experience of minority civil society organizations in illiberal social and political contexts largely because this literature assumes there is an inherent relationship between civil society and democracy jamal places an important spotlight on the complex interplay between liberal and illiberal trends in the emergence organization and transformation of palestinian civil society in israel as well as the need to introduce an alternative ethical model that aims to reconstruct ethnic states in universal civic terms a close description of amal el sana alh jooj s experiences as a palestinian bedouin female activist this book explores amal s activism and demonstrates that activists biographies provide a means of understanding the complexities of political situations they are involved in a close description of amal el sana alh jooj s experiences as a palestinian bedouin female activist this book explores amal s activism and demonstrates that activists biographies provide a means of understanding the complexities of political situations they are involved in when do words and actions empower when do they betray based on ethnographic fieldwork this volume tracks the repercussions of advocacy activism against house demolitions in unrecognised arab bedouin villages in israel s southern internal frontier koensler outlines an ethnographic approach for the study of social movements that follows multiple relations around mobilisations rather than studying activism in itself this perspective thus becomes relevant for scholars and activists engaged with the israeli palestinian conflict and those interested in global rights discourses extrait de l introduction in this book based on 25 months of fieldwork from 1993 1995 and subsequent visits in the summers of 2000 and 2001 the author examines activism and activists in palestinian nongovernmental organizations in israel the author argues that organizations enable certain processes of self identification based on activist s constructions of modernity throughout the text she does not demonstrate how activists conceptualizations of modernity reflect western academic discourses of modernity rather it is her intent to unfold and illustrate a vernacular palestinian and activist discourse of modernity exploring how modernity here is literally an ideology in the make and subject to improvisation still these same improvisations carry social weight within the activist community as activists reflect on their roles as emergent modern leaders as well as judge others with reference to these same ideologies this book based on 25 months of anthropological fieldwork examines activists and activism in palestinian nongovernmental organizations in israel it concentrates on the ways organizations enable certain processes of self identification based on activists constructions of modernity explores the civic activism of the palestinian minority in israel for a better understanding of the relationship between civic activism and democratization in ethnic states membership of political parties is diverse not everyone participates and those who do do not participate in the same way this book engages with the debate over the significance and future of political parties as membership organisations and presents the first broad comparative analysis of party membership and activism it is based on membership surveys which have been administered gathered and collated by a group of prominent party scholars from across europe canada and israel utilizing this rich data source together with the insights of party scholars the book investigates what party membership means in advanced industrial democracies in doing so it provides a clearer picture of who joins political parties why they do it the character of their political activism how they engage with their parties and what opinions they hold this text will be of interest to scholars and students of comparative politics particularly to those interested in representation participation political parties and elections sage memory studies journal memory studies association outstanding first book award honorable mention 2019 set in israel in the first decade of the twenty first century and based on long term fieldwork this rich ethnographic study offers an innovative analysis of the israeli palestinian conflict it explores practices of memory activism by three groups of jewish israeli and arab palestinian citizens zochrot autobiography of a city and baladna showing how they appropriated the global model of truth and reconciliation while utilizing local cultural practices such as tours and testimonies these activist efforts gave visibility to a silenced palestinian history in order to come to terms with the conflict s origins and envision a new resolution for the future this unique focus on memory as a weapon of the weak reveals a surprising shift in awareness of palestinian suffering among the jewish majority of israeli society in a decade of escalating violence and polarization albeit not without a backlash contested memories saturate this society the 1948 war is remembered as both independence day by israelis and al nakba the catastrophe by palestinians the walking tour and survivor testimonies originally deployed by the state for national zionist education that marginalized palestinian citizens are now being appropriated by activists for tours of pre state palestinian villages and testimonies by refugees suheir abu oksa daoud examines the various factors that have created this culture of political oppression she relies on both feminist theory and theories of colonial domination as well as conclusions drawn from personal interviews with female activists utilizing arabic english and hebrew sources she also makes careful distinctions between the lives and experiences of christian muslim bedouin and druze women this second edition of palestinian activism in israel deepens the exploration of bedouin women s leadership in the naqab through the intergenerational activist biographies of three women from the al sana lineage building on the first edition s focus on amal al sana alh jooj a pioneering palestinian bedouin activist this volume weaves together the narratives of her mother hajar al sana and grandmother rukiya al sana to examine the everyday practices of female political agency in this bedouin society it traces how three generations of women navigated patriarchy and colonialism during the nakba and the siyag reservation to the intifadas and the aftermath of the praver plan situated amid gender identity community and tribal belonging the book describes the lived experiences of naqab bedouin women s steadfastness sumud and survival through empirical research and anthropological description it highlights the intersectionalities and complexity of their activism s and calls for rethinking the multigenerational experiences of palestinian women in the middle east through the perspectives of the activists themselves india and israel contextualises the varied aspects of the partnership between india and israel with a specific focus on the dominant driver the defence engagement between the two sides forged in the context of mutual complementarities india s broad spectrum relationship with israel transformed into a strategic partnership in 2017 a quarter century after the establishment of full diplomatic ties india and israel have successfully steered the relationship forward despite the baggage of fraught and convulsive neighbourhoods the contributors to this volume include policy makers and military leaders who played an important role in the growth of the relationship as well as academics who have closely followed its growth shedding important light on the transformation of the india israel bilateral relationship into a strategic partnership over the course of past tumultuous 25 years chapters highlight israel s increasing engagement with india s diverse federal polity the de hyphenation of the india israel ties from india s relationship with palestine as well as the role played by us non state pro israel us based interest groups and sub state us congressmen actors in shaping india israel ties the concluding chapter examines israel s relationship with the peoples republic of china prc given that both the prc and india established diplomatic ties with israel almost simultaneously india and israel will be of great interest to scholars of strategic studies international relations middle eastern studies asian studies as well as those working in diplomacy government and the military the chapters were originally published as a special issue of strategic analysis in this timely and innovative book tamar katriel takes a language and discourse centred approach to the subject of peace activism in israel palestine one of the most significant political issues of our time while also posing more general questions about the role played by language in activist movements how activists themselves conceptualize their speech and its relationship to action viewing activism as a globalized cultural formation that gives shape and meaning to grassroots organizations struggles for political change this book explores the relations between the cultural categories of speech and action as constructed and evaluated in activist contexts it focuses on the specific empirical field of defiant discourse associated with the soldierly role in israeli culture using it to offer an in depth exploration of the cultural underpinnings of defiant speech katriel interrogates discourse centered activism as part of social movements action repertoires on the one hand and of the local cultural construction of speech cultures on the other this is critical reading for all students and scholars studying activism and social movements within linguistics middle eastern studies peace studies and communication studies with their homelands at war can diasporas lead the way to peace or do they present an obstacle to conflict resolution nurturing hate far away from those who actually fall victim to violence and which of these roles do the jewish and palestinian diaspora communities play in the israeli palestinian conflict particularly since the oslo peace process the search for a solution to the israeli palestinian conflict has been strongly contested among jewish and arab palestinian organizations in the united states through an analysis of the activities of arab palestinian and jewish organizations on behalf of and towards their conflict ridden homelands diasporic activism in the israeli palestinian conflict provides both a detailed picture of diasporic activism in the middle east as well as advancing theory building on the roles of diasporas in helping or hindering peace drawing on research into transnational social movements diaspora studies and constructivist international relations theory this book retraces how this process of diversification occurred and explains why neither the Jewish nor the Arab diaspora community hold a unified position in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict but are each comprised of both hawks and doves. Combining theoretical depth and practical orientation, this book is a key resource for those working in the fields of Middle Eastern studies, peace and conflict studies, and diaspora studies, as well as specialists on the ground in Israel, Palestine, and other conflict settings in which diaspora communities play a prominent role.

This book addresses this gap and employs an empirical exploration of the way in which online-based protest activity concerning public education issues is constructed, mobilised, and carried out. The authors highlight three cases of online-based mobilisations in Israel in which teachers and parents successfully affected public education policy.

Covers the extent of U.S. business generated as a result of America's participation in the multilateral development banks, outlines how the development banks cooperate with the Export-Import Bank, other U.S. government agencies in increasing business opportunities for U.S. firms in developing countries, lists several hundred firms in 41 states that have received contracts from the development banks or benefited in some other way from their work.
